Description

SIMPLIFYT is a contemporary studio concept where we invite you to make fitness your lifestyle: in a way that is simple, efficient and fun. We created a unique blend of cutting edge technology and quality personal training to first help our members understand where they are at in terms of fitness and wellbeing and then help them define and implement a plan to get to where they would like to be. Using the best technology and what personalised attention of a dedicated professional have to offer, we help them make the most of their body and health in a world putting too many expectations and physical limitations on them. We put the fun back into training to convert working out into feeling great.
